

COLD WAR: THEN AND NOW

This project will look our our past and current relationship with Russia, North Korea, Cuba, and Iran. Each group of 3–4 students will be assigned a different country (multiple groups will research the same topic). You will research the following:

- × Then: The history of our postwar (after 1945) relationship with the country
- × Then: The reasons why there was tension between us and that country
- × Then: Key historical Cold War events involving both countries (see next slide)
- × Then: How our relationship evolved during the cold war
- × Now: The reasons why there is still tension between us and that country
- × Now: Current events involving both countries
- × Now: What's going on with us and that country today
- × Now: How the US is dealing with them in terms of foreign policy

COLD WAR: THEN AND NOW

You will take notes on each research item. You can divide and conquer as a group—all of you do not need to be looking at the exact same resource.

After you have gathered all of your research, you will make a poster that you will use when your group presents.
